MapS - Mapping Sieneese Sociability in Early Modernity (XVI-XVIII Century)	The research project intends to study the functioning of the Sieneese academies in order to reconstruct the pattern of relationships between intellectuals between the 16th and early 18th centuries. Particular attention will be paid to the heritage of manuscripts and printed books relating to the academies preserved in the libraries and archives of Siena, investigated with the aid of technologies connected to digital humanities: diaries and minutes of meetings, exchanges of letters, collective publications which represented a model that has spread throughout Europe. The stay at the Faculty of Languages of the Jagiellonian University of Krakow (Poland) will allow the doctoral student to collaborate on the project “DiHeLib - European Heritage in the Jagiellonian Library: Digital Authoring of the Berlin Collections”, aimed at valorising a significant archival fund of a literary and scientific nature. The project also includes a collaboration with the CISS-International Center for Studies on the Seventeenth Century of the University for Foreigners of
